MINUTES

CATTLEGUARD NORTH OF SPENCER

Mike Cass, Range Conservatist, from the U. S. Forest Service met with the Board concerning trouble with cattle coming down to water at the bottom of Huntley; and if they had a cattleguard installed at the top or crest of the hill on old Highway 91 or the frontage road N. of Spencer this would solve the problem.

Cass said that the Department of Transportation removed some cattleguards from the exchange at Roberts and which are in a stockpile at Rigby and he was sure the county could buy one for this purpose. He said they would also need to pour a base out of concrete under the cattleguard which would probably cost around $250 and that the someone would need to go to Rigby to get the cattleguards.

After a short discussion it was decided that the Commission would look into and get back to Mike. However they feel that the individuals that will be benefiting most from the cattleguard should pay for the bases as the county will be furnishing the cattleguard and the equipment for installion of cattleguard.

GRAVEL CRUSHER

Orlin Gunderson, met with the Commission and discussed renting a small gravel crusher, he said it would cost $10,000 per month plus paying for the transport costs one way from Kent Washington. He said he would be needing one in about two and one-half months in Salmon and though the county would be interested in sharing costs. He also mentioned to the commission that Power County has a small crusher for sale, which includes set of rollers and cones, for around $30,000.

After a short discussion it was unanimous that the Commission would have to check with the Road & Bridge Supervisor and see what road construction is planned and what the needs for crushed gravel are.
